

Architecture begins with use.

About

JOOM is an architecture and engineering practice. We design buildings, interiors, structures, services and places for people, in every sector, from a house to a tower to a district. Our work begins with use: who will use a building and what has to happen there.

Our expertise

Architecture	Engineering
Interior architecture and design	Sustainability and environmental design
Urban design and masterplanning	Technology and research
Landscape architecture	Strategic consultancy and delivery

Sectors

Aviation	Commercial and workplace
Civic and cultural	Residential
Education	Retail
Healthcare	Sports and entertainment
Hospitality and resorts	Transport and infrastructure
Industrial and research	Urban design and masterplanning
Mixed-use

Network

JOOM leads the design and coordinates every discipline. A community of companies provides engineering, construction, fit-out and supply, so a client has one point of contact from first sketch to completion. Each company is engaged under its own agreement and is responsible for its own work.

Where we work

Egypt, the United Kingdom, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, the United States and Europe, through companies registered and licensed in each place.
